

Snus Winery Boule de Poils

Madrid, Iowa

Don't let the elegant frosted bottle and the French looking label fool you. This is not a stuffy wine. You'll have to buy a bottle to learn the secret behind the name. A dry white wine with a hint of sweetness on the finish, it's a blend of three different grapes grown in Iowa, St. Pepin, Seyval Blanc, and La Crescent. The wine is crisp with nice acidity. The flavors are a delightful fruit basket in your mouth. Enjoy this wine with chicken, fish, or pasta with white sauce.

Summer 2009 issue of Make Mine Wine.
